

- You do not need to constantly fight with the members of your tour group and extraneous listeners for a better position near the speaker.
- You can stay near any object that attracted your attention, walk around and take photos without missing a word from the tour guide.
- You will get more interesting information even in adverse conditions such as strong external noise, inability to approach the tour guide because of bad weather, narrow streets, indoor premises or transport.
- Usually the guides speak on the move when the groups are moving. Even waiting in line and moving between rooms becomes interesting with TourAudio radio systems.
